> Iwo Indian watchmen employed at Hunghom Docks were brought before Mr Sercombe Smith, in the Police Court to-day, charged with assaulting a foreman boilermaker named Wong Tak. The complainant said he was going to work on the even-. ing of the 12th Inst., when he saw a fight going on in the dockyard between some Chinese. He went to remonstrate, and the first defendant seized him by the queue and dragged him to the ground. The second defendant struck him with an iron bar, fracturing the arm. Afterwards the first defendant struck him on various parts of the body with a wooden pole. This evidence was corroborated by other two Chinese who were present. agents was adopted by a young and masophisticated Chinchew man, who appeared as complainant in a case before Mr Sercombe Smith in the Police Court this afternoon. The youth from the country came to Hongkong to sock his fortune with ten cents in his pocket. On arriving he was met by two gentlemen who in the most friendly way insisted on his going to stay with them for a while. The stranger thinking fortune had begun to smile upon him already, assented and soon found himself in a house in Second-Street, where he was treated as a distinguished guest. His entertainers endeavoured to amuse him by starting a little gamble which he did not understand and which his funds would not allow him to experiment in. His heats with magnificent generosity presented him meanour. They began to refer to ten dollars in an unpleasant way as if it had been simply a loan, and ultimately stated that their guest being unable to repay it would have to go to Singapore and work there until he could do so. The young man from Chin-chew rejected this proposal with all the force he could, and the result was that he was locked into a cockloft until he should change his mind. Being a young man of resource, however, he at once set about News has been received here of the failure finding a way out and had removed a sufficient number of bricks from the wall to enable him to squeeze himself through when the people in the adjoining house believing this ves were breaking in upon them summoned the police. The man who would not go to Singapore was thereafter restored to liberty, while his hosts were grabbed by the myrmidens of the law. After hearing evidence for the prosecution the Magistrate adjourned the case till tomorrow, in order to give the defendants &

After having given him a handsome slice of the profits, they were gratified to learn later that Hug had contained a second commission from the Nizam's Treasury. When this leaked out, there was a great scandal at Hyderabad, and Hugfer a time was in a very unpleasant corner. But in circumstances like these, clever men prove their metile. Thanks to Oriental diplomacy, in the arts of which Hun was a master, he not only escaped, but contrived to pose as an ill-used man, and claimed a great mining concession which furnished Hyderabad with its second scandal. The claim was deliberately based on the plea that Hug had made too little out of the realway,
